

Use of compounding pharmacies as another resource for CRPS patients

Rachel Burns, PharmD
ClearSpring Pharmacy
www.clearspringrx.com

Customized and Quality Medications

Compounding is the method of preparing customized medications to help meet unique practitioner and patient needs.

Customized Medications?

Compounding pharmacists focus on providing innovative patient care.

What can compounding do for me ?

Improve Therapeutic Outcomes...

- Unique dosage form designed for a specific problem
- Liquid medications for easy titration/taper dosing
- Potential minimization or avoidance of side effects

Improve Therapeutic Outcomes...

- Dose, dosage form, or medication not commercially available
- Avoidance of unwanted dyes, preservatives, fillers, and active ingredients

▼ How a patient's unique pharmaceutical need leads to the development of a compounded medication...

The Tool Box

Route of administration

Combination product

Custom strength

Immediate or delayed release

Topical application

Research... more than just a Google search

How do you pick a good compounding pharmacy?

The patient- pharmacist relationship

Around the soda fountain...

Trial and Error

Different forms of sublingual ketamine

Alternative to the emergency room

Unforeseen complication

Thinking outside of the box

▼ Waiting...

Success

Richard P

To You

Mar 2

Chris woke up at 4am w/ lumbar sacral pain - took sevl hits of dilaudid nasal spray, no effect - around 10am applied 1st hot of dilaudid cream & it was pretty potent, probably bcuz he had nasal spray earlier

The good news is it worked, although he feels sedated & foggy

He needs to confer w/ u & we should probably have 1/2 the dose made up next time - trial & error

Reply

Next challenge

▼ Rollercoaster summer

It takes a team

Awesome ClearSpring Pharmacy Team

All you have to do is ask.

Rachel Burns, PharmD
ClearSpring Pharmacy
303-707-1500
rburns@clearspringrx.com

Chris Paletta
Instagram: oneironaut_2012
Email: cxp2012@gmail.com

▼
References are available upon request

